

TORREY TOWN ANIMAL CONTROL

(A proposed ordinance by Torrey Planning Commission)

Criteria for raising and grazing of livestock (cattle; horses; sheep; chickens; turkeys; pigs; goats; ducks; and other domesticated livestock, may be approved as a Conditional Use by the Torrey City Council. In making a determination whether raising or grazing of such livestock listed is appropriate, the Torrey City Council shall consider the following criteria;

(A) Any barn, corral, coop, etc. must be a minimum of seventy-five (75) feet from the nearest neighboring dwelling unit.

(B) There shall be a maximum of two (2) horses; cattle; sheep; pigs; PER ACRE.

No raising of exotic animals.

No animals permitted on ½ acre or less

Animals are allowed on property with no domestic residence, but will be subject to all conditions of the Torrey Town Animal Control ordinance as outlined.

(C) Terrain and Slope of the Property must be suitable for large livestock. This pertains to the waste not running into the adjacent property.

(D) The Applicant must submit an Animal Management Plan outlining the following:

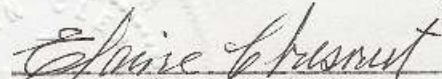

- (1) waste removal/odors
- (2) drainage and runoff
- (3) bedding materials
- (4) flies; and
- (5) feed/hay

(E) Grandfather Clause: Existing buildings, corrals, fences, and other such animal containment structures are exempt, as well as items (A), (B), (C), and (D) as outlined above. If existing animals are removed from the property for the period of one year or more, then the above criteria will apply.

(F) If animals within the city limits are creating a nuisance, and complaints are brought before the city council, it may be determined by the city council that the animal privilege may be revoked if corrective action is not taken by the animal owner(s).

This Ordinance was ADOPTED AND APPROVED to be deemed effective the 21 day of August 2007.
